The rebels entered the building and carried off whatever caught their eye. A moment later the building was in flames. As the fire raged, the cracking of cartridges revealed the fact that the structure had been crisscrossed by an arsenal.

University of Alberta Won From Saskatchewan, 7 to 4

Excellent Game of Hockey at South Side Rink Last Night—Return Game May Be Played Next Week—Alberta Lead at Half Time 2 to 1—Visitors Banqueted After Game.

Most north-siders are under the delusion that all the good hockey teams in the province are in the south. A trip to the north side of the river and a visit to the skating rink would have convinced the most skeptical that the north side has one of the best hockey aggregations of pro-kickers in Edmonton. This team sports the colors of the University of Alberta, and they are the University of Saskatchewan's rivals in the University of Saskatchewan's rivalry. The game was a close one, but the visitors were too good for the home team, and they won by a score of 7 to 4.

The soft ice did not suit the play to any material extent. It made it very hard for the players, but it was not until after the puck all the time and the result was a game, fast and interesting all the way through. The Albertans certainly had an edge on their fellow, college boys, but they were not much to work for all the time. It was not until the last fifteen minutes of the last half that they really showed the game.

Visitors Were Strong
The Saskatchewan team, brought down their strongest team, and were rather surprised at the result. They were not expected to win, but they were not expected to lose either.

Alberta's Game
Alberta's game was a very good one. They were not expected to win, but they were not expected to lose either. The game was a close one, but the visitors were too good for the home team, and they won by a score of 7 to 4.

NORWEGIANS IN CITY ENTERTAINED VISITOR

Sons of Norway Provide Excellent Reception For Distinguished Consultant—Over 200 Norwegians Gathered at Dinner in German Lutheran Church.

There has been for some considerable length of time some talk among the Norwegians in this city of organizing a lodge of the order of "Sons of Norway." Some actual steps were taken some five weeks ago when an application was sent in to the Grand Lodge at Minneapolis, Minn., for permission to organize and get a charter. The work has been progressing very nicely, but the lodge is not organized; but a number of interested have formed themselves into a committee for the purpose of perfecting the organization. One of the objects of the Sons of Norway, according to its constitution, is "To further a better internal understanding and union among the Norwegians in America." The Sons of Norway were first organized in Minneapolis, Minn., where the Grand Lodge is now located.

The Norwegians in Edmonton have not sooner commenced to organize than an opportunity was offered where a practical demonstration could be given, showing what an organization like theirs could do. A letter was received by the chairman of the organization committee from Ludwig Saxe, who is touring the world in the interest of Norman-Fornbush, of Christiania, Norway, saying that he might come to Edmonton if it were considered worth while.

The question was then how best to entertain Mr. Saxe in a way that would give him an opportunity to meet the most of his countrymen while in the city. A banquet at one of the hotels at so much as a plate was first proposed. It was then suggested that if the women could be induced to serve the supper, and all be invited to partake free of charge, the affair would be less formal and more homelike. The proposition was met with hearty approval and the reception given at the German Lutheran church, was the result. To say that the reception was a success is putting it mildly. There were about 200 people gathered and all are unanimous in pronouncing it the largest and most sociable gathering of Norwegians ever held in the city. Very few had met each other before, but all were soon imbued with the spirit of sociable hospitality which enabled them to mix freely and become acquainted. No one organization in the city can claim the honor for the success, but it is truly the sons and daughters of Norway living in the city who, by their united effort and good will, created a brotherly feeling which will make the event a memorable one in the history of the Norwegians in the city.

As to the reception of Mr. Saxe in the city as a whole it was something out of the ordinary for him. He was met at the North Star station by members of the organization committee, and Mr. Hall, Industrial Commissioner in his automobile. This took the traveler by surprise.

lution of tenure on the provincial government for allowing the constitution of affairs which existed in the railway construction camps in this province, members of the opposition lined up with this "good government." They did that because if they opposed the C. P. R. they would not get a nomination. The government is only bad because it is not good for the C. P. R. but it stands not with the C. P. R. but stands with the people and Canadian Northern.

Mr. O'Brien expressed disappointment with the Mines Act, especially as the commission included a politician representative, but was pointed up by the speaker when attempting to go into details of an act which is now before the house.

Mr. O'Brien resumed his seat, having spoken for eighty minutes.

Consequently criticism of the government policy outlined in the speech from the throne was continued by Harold Riley, member for Glenora, who alluded to an actual meeting in the by-elections at Cardston, Calgary and Edmonton. If rumors were true, the senior member for Edmonton would not sit in the house during the present session. To his mind, the opposition being shown by the friends of the attorney general to prevent certain charges being heard in court was the best evidence of the truth of the allegations that had been made.

"To the point of this province the A. & C. W. decision has given the greatest satisfaction to the people and the people are prepared to discharge their just debts. Questioning the statement of the premier that the credit of the province was not affected by the A. & C. W. decision, he quoted the London Times, which said that the fact that the province was paying five and three-quarters per cent for six months' treasury bills was a bad thing for Alberta, but a good thing for the lenders. Mr. Riley took issue with the premier on the statement that the public debt of the province was not more than $14,000,000. "The total sum on which the province is paying interest," he said, "is that amount, plus the $7,000,000 involved in the A. & C. W. decision."

Successful Hocking
This was the extent of Mr. Riley's statistical reply to the premier on the question of the financial position of the province. He took occasion to repeat the premier's suggestion that it would be worth the money to the province if some of the members of the opposition were sent over to London to learn something of finance, and sent that he had been to London at his own expense, but that the premier had waited until the people of Alberta had made the way easy for him. Mr. Riley took up other remarks and attempted to score trifling victories, but he was badly taken to task by members of the government who frequently turned the laugh against him by asking for dates and names, which in some cases Mr. Riley was quite unable to supply.

The time for the adjournment had arrived when Mr. Riley contended, and Hon. C. B. Mitchell moved the adjournment. Mr. Mitchell will speak in the house tomorrow at four o'clock.

AROUND THE CITY

The 19th Alberta Dragoons, "A" Squadron, will hold a dance at the Separate School Hall next Tuesday night.

Mr. T. L. Girard will leave tonight for Prince Albert and the S. A. Crosse, Sask. On his return, Mr. Girard will take another trip up to Ground on business with a few other friends.

According to Chief of Police Carpenter, the new fire and police substation at North Edmonton will be one of the first to be built, its location in that district being a very pressing one. The other sub-stations will be proceeded with later on in the year. Several new men have been added to the force recently and there will be further additions as soon as the spring opens up.

John L. Alexander, superintendent of the secondary division (then aged) of the International Sunday School Association, and one of the foremost specialists on teen-age problems on this continent, will be in Alberta March 16th to 18th inclusive. On Tuesday, March 16th, he will visit Edmonton and work under plans arranged by the Religious Education Institute of this city.

Court Northern Light, No. 1269, Canadian Order of Foresters, held a meeting on Wednesday evening which proved a great success, with about thirty members present. There was one initiation and the installation of officers. This court is now on the upper of the leading courts of Canadian Order of Foresters in the West. Any one wishing to join should apply to write G. Duncan, or T. E. Bristle, Northern Division.

NEW HOTEL AT TOFELD.
A new hotel, known as the Royal Alexandra, was opened at Tofted on Tuesday night. Much more than 100 men were served from 6 to 9 p.m. All reported a very enjoyable time. The hotel has 11 rooms, nicely furnished, hot water, bath, linen, fine dining room and service, clean and every modern convenience.

VOTE WAS 3 TO 2.
K. W. Mackenzie's motion at the second board meeting on Thursday afternoon, that the public schools of the city be placed under the supervision of only one superintendent, was not carried by the vote of the chairman as expected, but by a majority of four to two. The members voted as follows:

For the motion: K. W. Mackenzie, J. J. MacKenzie, A. Bulchard, and W. H. Hensley.
Against the motion: Dr. Crang and E. G. Barnes.
J. J. Mackenzie voted both for the motion and for a united superintendent, and also for the main motion, saying that he could see no difference between them, hence the mistake.

POLICE OFFICER WIDS.
The 19th Dragoons and Alexander Tait, the Mut and Jeff, of the police force, have dissolved partnership. It was an involuntary dissolution, too, on the part of one of them. They used to room together, and the latter, who appeared to be an imbecile, but Jeff, the son of Constable Taylor, decided to leave his partner, and as a result of his disinterested reflection, a young lady by the name of Miss Panny Cohen, of Salem, Oregon, appeared on the scene and took him away.

The wedding ceremony took place on Thursday, the 13th, the Rev. Mr. Tait, of the South Side, officiating, and now Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Tait are receiving the congratulations of their friends, while Miss Cohen is in the hospital.

The bridegroom is known as the mutant of the police force, and Mut, who deplores the inevitable change in his daily mind, is saying that Alex's luck will not change because he was married on the 13th.

Jeff, wearing a personal smile, will never be thought for his former partner, has cast suspicion to the winds, and is looking along the sunny path of matrimony in the highest of spirits.

WILL HOLD AN INQUEST.
Coroner Foster yesterday decided to hold an inquest upon the body of William Young, who died at the Alberca Road on Sunday last under rather mysterious circumstances.

He was found to be acting strangely on Ross Place, and the police were telephoned for took him to the hospital, where he died without revealing any particulars with regard to his illness. Dr. Harwood, who attended the case, refused to issue a death certificate.

Dr. Forin viewed the body, and found an abrasion on the left side of the head, which might have been caused by a blow or a severe fall. Dr. Harwood and Dr. Landry made a post mortem examination of the body, and found a large clot of blood on the side of the head. The doctor to do this was a request at Cunnely and McKinley's undertaking parlors on Monday night, at eight o'clock, in the hope of elucidating the mystery.

The history of the Edmonton Choral Union, brief as it is, is interesting.

Founded last October, this organization has made rapid strides. The object of the union, as set forth by one of its officials, is the study of choral music and to foster a taste for good music in the city. It is absolutely voluntary in its work, as the members pay seasonal fees and buy their own music.

It is the hope of those most active in the interests of the Edmonton Choral Union that it may become an active center of musical life to which all the detached or floating musical talent in the city may gravitate. Later on, it is hoped that the co-operation of other musical bodies in the city, such as church choirs and kindred associations, may join with the Choral Union in the production of some of the big oratorios.

Another aim of the union is to be of service to church choirs, by being able to come to the aid of a choirmaster in need of additional voices in his choir.

The conductor of the Edmonton Choral Union is Mr. John King, who has had extensive experience in conducting the baton and brings an ardent love for music to aid him in the task.

His accompanist is Miss Edna Fowler, a young lady of rare musical accomplishments.

At the present time the chorus numbers about one hundred voices, considering the short period since its inception, is more than satisfactory. Of course, the chorus will not stay here. A membership of several hundreds is aimed at, and later on a choir along the lines of the chorus choir of from one thousand to three thousand voices which exist in the cities of the great country is dreamed as a possibility here.

The work of the first session of the chorus is devoted mainly to the song, and while this class of music is the most popular, it is not the only class in the syllabus, the higher choral work, such as oratorios, will be attempted in the future.

Among the officers of the Edmonton Choral Union are: Major William Short, K.C.; Prof. E. R. Broadbent, Alberta University; ex-Mayor Armstrong; Alderman LeVasseur; while its honorary membership includes some of the most public spirited citizens of Edmonton, all of whom are taking a deep interest in the work of the union.

Music Conservatory.
Change Ownership.
The Columbian Conservatory of Music of Alberta which opened its doors in Edmonton a little over two years ago has recently changed hands, being taken to the extent taught by the conservatory having been purchased by a company consisting of a number of the leading men in Edmonton. The president of the new conservatory is Major William Short, K.C., the vice-president being the Hon. A. C. Rutherford, K.C.; other members of the board of directors are Messrs. John S. Summerville, Elwood Moore, Norman Sears and Ernest Headford, managing director.

Starting with one teacher on the number of the conservatory has grown to the latest additions being Miss Lotta Cutler Fleming, A.T.C.M., and Mr. Thomas G. H. Cook, both graduates of unusually high attainments.

Miss Fleming, like Miss Edna Fowler, has been a student of the conservatory, and both as a teacher and the possessor of rich contralto voice has won golden opinions. Mr. Cook, who has already taught local musicians and masters, both an undoubted addition to Edmonton's musical circles.

The conservatory has now a complete organization from coast to coast and there is no city of importance which has not a branch. It has attracted not only the best talent to the various staffs, but the finances are in each instance in the hands of business men, whose names stand for all that is best in Canadian commerce.

In Toronto, those financially interested in the conservatory in Ontario and Quebec are Lord, Col. Douglas, E. R. Wood and A. P. Welton; while in Winnipeg, the headquarters of the Canadian parent body amongst those interested are the leaders of such well-known names as Messrs. J. A. M. Aikens, M.P., the Rev. C. W. Gordon (High Commissioner), and Arthur Stewart, President of the National Trust Company.

The success of such eminent Canadians is a guarantee of the worth of the system taught. This is now being carried out by two of the most brilliant musicians living today, namely, Leopold Godowsky and Konstantin, who have recently joined the faculty, an exceptionally high and creditable of the conservatory, which is so important a feature of its method of teaching the piano in Calgary, the branch conservatory is in full swing with half a dozen of the best known musicians on its staff.

Interesting Program for Women's Musical Club.
An unusually interesting program is to be given at this afternoon's regular recital of the Women's Musical Club of Edmonton. It will be the first public appearance in this city of Miss Helen Cawthorne, pianist, an honor graduate of the Toronto Conservatory of Music. Miss Cawthorne has studied abroad and was a pupil of Dr. Motzke, Berlin, an assistant teacher and pupil of Marianne Levensky, Paris. Miss Josie Potter and Miss Buck will assist Miss Cawthorne. The program for this afternoon's recital, which will be held in the lecture room of the First Presbyterian Church, Fourth street, is as follows:

The Strathcona Choral Society, under the leadership of Mr. C. E. F. Cox, will rehearse their "Creation" for presentation in March. The eighth of every Monday evening on eight o'clock in the court room on the South Side. Great interest is being maintained in the work of the society and the average attendance at rehearsals is about fifty.

The chorus is well balanced, produces some fine effects and is making good progress in the latest oratorio they have attacked.

The Strathcona Choral Society is now in its fifth year, being founded by its present conductor. The society is best known for the work it has done in the annual competitions of the Alberta Musical Festival, twice winning the shield for choral society and producing model winners in other branches. The society is represented on the festival committee by Mr. Cox. New members will be accepted for the next two weeks, after which it will be necessary to close the membership lists until after the performance.

Wesley Sunday School Orchestra Concert.

Council Refuses to Consider Offers to Supply Gas to City

Decides Entire Scheme Must be Carried Through as Municipal Enterprise—Board of Experts to Inquire into Gas Possibilities Will be Engaged—Hot Debate at Meeting.

"No private corporations need apply," was the sign hung out and nailed to the door by the city council at its special meeting yesterday afternoon, called to consider the gas supply question in its entirety. By a vote of five to four, a majority of the council decided it would not even listen to the offers or proposals of any private individual or company to supply the city with gas.

Edmonton must get its own wells, pipe the gas and distribute it, or go without, in the opinion of Aldermen Tipton, East, Smith, May and Driscoll.

"Our gas franchise is the last franchise we have, and we are not going to give it to anybody," was the sentiment of these five members of the council. "We believe in municipal ownership now, but let us hear all the proposals before we can learn all we can," was the argument advanced by Aldermen Livingstone, Douglas, Lindsay and Walsh.

To Engage Experts.

But the five had their way. It was a day that led to much recommitment, hot words, long arguments and that ended in a resolution being adopted authorizing the commissioners to engage a board of natural gas experts to study, investigate and report on all the possible fields or sources of a supply for the city, with the proposals now before the council. Heeding the wording of this resolution, evidently the council will hear all about the proposals of private companies in spite of the action of the majority yesterday afternoon. It is taken to any such cities even for a minute.

After all the aldermen were present, there was a wait of nearly half an hour yesterday afternoon. Mayor Short was not present, but he is expected to arrive at first to come at all. When he arrived he explained that he had not intended to take any part in the discussions of the council relative to the supply of natural gas. As was well known, he has a small interest in the Calhoun Oil Company. This company was seeking the city for a franchise.

Mayor's Statement.

"If the council gives a contract to the Calhoun Oil Company," stated Mr. Short, "I shall, very next day, sell my shares in the company for exactly the same amount of cash that I paid for them."

In the meantime, however, the Mayor thought it would be best for him to stay out of the discussion. There were people both in and out of the council who would believe it would influence his action. He did not wish to lose any of the confidence of the council, as there were more important matters than the gas supply to come up later.

Alderman Douglas immediately stated that he did not think there was anyone who would think that Mayor Short would be influenced by the fact that he was a shareholder in the Calhoun Oil Company. He moved a vote of confidence in the mayor and asked that he remain in the discussion on gas. Alderman Livingstone seconded the motion, and after Alderman East had stated that he would vote for it in view of the state of the city, the motion was carried unanimously.

Alderman Douglas then stated that he now could say he had no connection in any way, shape or form with any company negotiating with the council.

Tipton Starts Fireworks. Alderman Tipton started the fire works by suggesting that the whole work of the council must be shortened by deciding first as to whether the gas was to be a municipal enterprise or otherwise.

"Let us decide right now if the city will give any of its franchises to any private company, or whether the city will do all this work itself," he said. "If we decide on the latter course, then the offer of the Calhoun Oil Company is eliminated; we will not need to hear Matthew Lodge or R. B. Campbell or anybody else; all that will remain for us to do will be to decide whether it is expedient for the city to do this work now or to leave the gas proposition for consideration next year or later."

"I am in favor of owning our own franchises, and I am not going to vote to give to any private company our gas franchises," continued Alderman Tipton. "If a private company can pipe the gas from Pelican Rapids and make a profit, then the city can do it. I would more than like the council to retain its own gas franchise."

Alderman East seconded the motion and the fight was on.

Livingstone Objects.

Alderman Livingstone promptly objected. "I do not like to jump at a conclusion like this," he declared. "I want to know what all the various propositions are. I want to know as much about this gas question as I can, and I do not know of any better way than to have all the offers now before the council thoroughly explained. I want to find out whether it is best for the city to pipe the gas from the wells, or to have it delivered at the city limits. I don't even know that Mr. Brodie knows all about gas, and I do not know yet how much reliance can be placed on his report to this council. It is hard to get money just now, and under the circumstances it might be the very best thing in the world for this city to start out and prove gas fields before starting operations to bring the gas to the city and the consumer."

"I think this motion is very premature," commented Ald. Walsh, who spoke next. "If we get gas at the city boundaries, I do not see where we would be giving away any franchise. It may not even be necessary to make a contract binding us exclusively to take the gas from one company alone."

"Do Go All Over Province."

"I believe in municipal ownership," commented Alderman Douglas. "But I believe in municipal ownership within the city limits, not over half the province, or not even from here to the other side of the continent. This is the most important question that has been before any of the members of this council, and I think we should hear all sides of the matter before arriving at any conclusion."

Alderman Driscoll was most emphatic in his opposition to even hearing the private companies. He declared that Calgary was getting gas from a private company, and that city was now trying and talking of getting an independent source of supply.

"If this municipal ownership of gas is the only method for us," declared Mr. Driscoll, "If a private company can do this work, so can the city. Now is the time to shut down for the last time on all franchise matters. If the council gives this franchise away, it will regret it and will be held responsible by the people of this city."

Alderman May declared he believed in municipal ownership first, last and all the time. All the aldermen candidates at the last election had come out for this principle, and he thought they ought to stick by their promises now.

"Pig-headed," said Alderman May, "to pass this motion would be pig-headed." "To pass this motion would be pig-headed," he said. "I came here to get information. I want to get the bottom of all the proposals before the council and learn all I can from them. If we shut them out altogether where are we going to profit at all?"

"Everyone here believes in municipal ownership," was the way Alderman Lindsay described the efforts of the five. "I came here to get information. I want to get the bottom of all the proposals before the council and learn all I can from them. If we shut them out altogether where are we going to profit at all?"

"I have been here to get information," said Alderman Lindsay. "I want to get the bottom of all the proposals before the council and learn all I can from them. If we shut them out altogether where are we going to profit at all?"

Alderman Smith announced his attitude by stating that he believed firmly in the principle of municipal ownership. As far as it affected the gas question, he felt that there were only two proposals before the council. In one case the company had no gas at all yet, while in the other case, they had the gas but no pipe line. Alderman Smith did not think that it would be very hard for the city to do the development work as effectively as the company could. He thought it would be very unsatisfactory for the city to have its own distribution system and have a company control the pipe line. There would be trouble, he felt sure.

How They Voted.

"I am prepared to retain our gas franchise and develop the gas fields," concluded Alderman Smith.

The vote was then taken and resulted as follows: For municipal gas and not hearing others—Tipton, Smith, East, May and Driscoll.

Against—Lindsay, Douglas, Walsh and Livingstone.

Absent from city—Ald. Calder.

Ald. Livingstone had a little comment to make after the vote. He had received the assurance of the chairman of the committee of the board of experts in order to discuss Superintendent Brodie's report.

"I believe those who voted for Ald. Tipton's motion have done more harm to municipal ownership today than any other motion ever put through the city council," was the way he felt about the matter.

Calls It a Tin God.

"Brodie is a tin god," was another expression that fell from the lips of the chairman of the board of experts. "They think Brodie knows all about gas, and I have to tell them that he is not a Z. On these figures you could not raise one cent to finance the scheme."

Alderman Smith did not think Mr. Brodie was of the same order as any other kind of a god, but he felt Mr. Brodie knew more about gas than the chairman of the board of experts. "They think Brodie knows all about gas, and I have to tell them that he is not a Z. On these figures you could not raise one cent to finance the scheme."

Suggests Experts.

Alderman Tipton came forward with the suggestion that experts be hired to report on the supply of natural gas for the city. In the many days as experts were engaged to report on a gas supply.

"The greatest asset this city has to all its franchises," declared Alderman Tipton, "is if we can't get this money, let us drop this discussion for the time, but do not give away the franchise."

"I may say the city has not the money and can not get it, this year at least, to float a gas proposition of this kind," remarked Mayor Short, curtly.

STATISTICAL CASTLES COME FALLING DOWN

Opposition Leader's Bad Cropper
in Discussion of Railway Guarantees

SOCIALIST MEMBER
FIRST SPEAKER TODAY

Harold Riley Constitutes Himself
Financial Critic for the Opposition

St. M. O'Brien, socialist member for Rocky Mountain, is treated with all the consideration of a third party in the Legislature. When the House resumed yesterday, Mr. O'Brien had possession of the floor for a speech on the reply to the address from the throne. Mr. O'Brien follows the premier and the leader of the Opposition, by his right as the leader of the socialist party. He represents a rising constituency and holds strong views on mining matters.

Mr. Michener's Worry.
"Railways worry Mr. Michener," said the premier, yesterday. If Mr. Michener could, he would like to void the railway, that they go on building railway lines in Alberta without even saying "if you please" to the leader of the Opposition. It was the railways that caused Mr. Michener to come a heavy cropper in the debate Thursday. Bitten with a short memory, Mr. Michener, going anywhere to deal a stone to throw at the government, picked up the guarantee of railway companies. The crime of guaranteeing railway lines in order to break the monopoly which the C.P.R. had in this province until a few years ago, appeared to Mr. Michener Thursday to be the height of enormity. With elaborate rhetoric he engaged upon the issue. "Let me see the credit of private corporations." Why not use the money of the people of the province in building the railways, instead of using the credit of the province to guarantee bonds.

Facination of Figures.
Figures have a fascination for Mr. Michener. He cannot leave them, except when they are taken from the official records and public accounts. It is the hard kind of mathematics that he likes. "Millions and millions and untold millions." Mr. Michener could build wonderful statistical castles and then kind of figures. Of course the castles are without foundation, and when anyone touches the walls to see what they are made of, the whole structure comes, like Mr. Michener in yesterday's debate, ignominiously to the ground.

Premier's Reminder.
All the bonds that were ever guaranteed by the Alberta Government were added together by Mr. Michener Thursday and calculating the interest for the next forty years and adding that, he reached the conclusion—to him an entirely novel one—that the guinea placed upon the province by the province guaranteeing railways was equal to $1,500 for every head of a family of five in the province of Alberta. Mr. Michener forgot that the province bears not a cent of financial liability for those bonds until the railways have been completed. Instead of using the credit of the province to secure railway completion without cost to the country, Mr. Michener would spend all the millions that are raised by the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Canadian Northern to build lines by government labor. Unfortunately for Mr. Michener, he forgot, until the premier reminded the House of it, that he had secured a resolution at a public meeting at Red Deer in favor of the government guaranteeing bonds of railways.

Full Railway Report.
The premier has promised Mr. Michener a full account of the railway building in Alberta, with all the details—from the public accounts—which he will be sure to carefully disregard. Meanwhile the leader of the Opposition keeps on asking questions about many things that he ought to know. In financial matters the premier believes that it would pay the province—in time—to send Mr. Michener over to London to learn something about bonds and what he calls "high finance." Questions in Mr. Michener's name down on the order paper for Tuesday next inquire for the amount of railway construction under bonds guaranteed last season, how much is in operation, and how much money the province has paid out in respect of them.

Natural Resources.
Harold Riley, Oshawa, will ask how many automobiles were purchased by the government during last year and how much the cost. Mr. Riley wants to know whether the agricultural schools are being built by day labor or by contract. John Kemm, Poncha Creek, is going to ask whether the government authorized the destruction of beaver in the province and how many orders.

Mr. Kemm will also ask for an order of the House for a return showing all letters, telegrams or other communications between the Government of the Dominion of Canada relative to the acquisition and control by the province of its natural resources since the close of last session of this Legislature.

Is Discouraged By Politics.
Yukon, Feb. 14.—There have been some political disturbances at Kluane. They were caused especially against the members of the new party now in power of formation. No candidate could be named. Dr. Ben Yal Sen, former provincial president of China, is expected to arrive here tonight.

The Deserter

Hon. George E. Brye—Try to not let them turn you out of the house.

New York, Feb. 13.—The glittering youth that William Van Taffrey, a young bank teller of Middleton, N.B., has cut through New York, Boston and London, ended here tonight in a police station. According to the complaint, Van Taffrey, on the first of the year, Springfield, as paying teller in the Springfield, N.B., branch of the Royal Bank of Canada. After a guided career in Boston and London, he returned to New York, where he was arrested by a detective who gained his confidence by posing as a millionaire's son.

According to the police Van Taffrey admits his guilt.

NO CESSATION OF BATTLE IN MEXICO CITY

Rebels and Federals Resume Artillery Engagement Early This Morning.

CASUALTIES YESTERDAY
1,000 KILLED, 2,000 WOUNDED

President Taft Declares He Will Not Intervene Until He is Forced To.

WILL NOT INTERVENE
UNLESS FORCED TO.

Washington, Feb. 14.—President Taft declared to close advisers today that what one thing could force him to ask congress to intervene in Mexico.

If the Madero or Diaz forces should turn upon Americans merely because they are Americans or foreigners, Mr. Taft let it be known that he would rush a special message to congress in thirty minutes time. He does not regard the killing of a few Americans in the course of the battle as a cause for war, but looks upon such casualties as unavoidable, and believes that the proper authorities should be liable for damages.

Mexico City, Feb. 14.—The rebels opened the battle today at a quarter to six, when they started firing in the direction of the federal concentration point. It had been expected that the federals would attack first.

President Madero this morning sent another ultimatum to Felix Diaz, demanding his surrender, and the reply came in the shape of a number of solid shots from the insurgent guns. The shots from the rebel line which were followed by a series of others in rapid succession. Then the machine guns and rifles began their whirr and patter, the fire being concentrated where government troops were gathering. The federal guns did not delay in making vigorous reply.

Firing a Steady Note.
By seven o'clock the firing had become a steady note. All round the arsenal the flash of held guns and the quick firing was incessant. Federal officers declared their men were preparing to make an advance.

A constant stream of refugees, most of them Mexican citizens, was observed suffering toward the suburbs from the densely populated district between the arsenal and the national palace.

In many of the churches special prayers were said by the clergy for the restoration of peace to the capital. Thousands of refugees knelt in the old cathedrals and joined in the prayers, at the same time trusting that a little to the heavy walls for protection against firing projectiles.

To Contain Every Advance.
Diaz made preparations to contain every inch of the advance of the government troops, as he indicated he would do in his reply to the president's ultimatum. He told the government that his followers preferred to die at their posts rather than surrender. They would not ask quarter.

Soon after 8 o'clock a convent, five blocks beyond the national palace, was wrecked by a shell from a rebel gun and a number of its inmates were killed.

Many sharpshooters from the rebel artillery fell around the cable office, the national club, and other buildings in that vicinity. Others struck the national palace.

Diaz Acknowledges.
This morning asked for recognition as a belligerent by the United States government in an informal note to Ambassador Wilson, stating that he was in complete control of the city.

Two federal batteries of six guns each, stationed near the British legation, poured a constant fire at the arsenal. Another federal battery posted on San Juan de Letran street, joined the bombardment. At about nine o'clock the rebel guns turned their attention away from the national palace and onto the federal batteries near the British legation where the government forces were doing effective work.

The fire from the rebel batteries kept up very rapidly throughout the morning, but at about 10 o'clock a lull was noticed in that direction from the rebel battery.

Federal engineers this morning began blasting a series of mines placed with dynamite beneath houses between the national palace and the arsenal.

The explosion of these is in fact a breach. The four machine guns, which the artillerymen "will direct their fire against Diaz and his army in their mad dash about the arsenal. The buildings in this district are densely populated. Rebels were warned during the night to evacuate their homes. All moved out with nothing but their personal belongings.

Try To Arrange Truce.
Just before noon the White Cross society endeavored to arrange a truce for two hours in order to collect the dead and the wounded. The federal fire became less intense and the rebel artillery also slackened slightly.
